

June 27, 2014

The Best Events Happening in New York this July 4th Weekend

Be it with fireworks, a barbeque, a day on the beach or pool, or combination of any of the above, there are endless ways to celebrate our nation's independence. That being said, with so many options out there, the list can seem overwhelming. Fear not, dear reader, for we have scoured the web, the streets, and eavesdropped along the word-of-mouth pipelines to bring you the hottest July 4th events going on in NYC and the Hamptons this weekend. After all, July 4th is the one day we get all year to wave our flag high, eat all our favorite American foods, drink even more than we eat, and wear our stars and stripes proudly--we should do it right. It's our patriotic duty, and we're nothing if not dutiful.

www.thedailymeal.com

Spyglass Rooftop Bar

Friday, July 4th

Spyglass Rooftop bar 403 E 12th St. (45 W 38th St.)

East side not really your scene? No problem. Celebrate our nation's independence 22 floors above the Garment District at the Archer Hotel's swank new rooftop hangout, Spyglass. The venue offers a beautifully unobstructed view of the Empire State Building, which will look great as the background to all your July 4th photos on Instagram when it's lit up in red, white, and blue. Meanwhile, fireworks will be going off in the distance and in your mouth thanks to Spyglass' amazing location and to-die-for food and drink selections, which include The Empire State and Top of the World cocktails, as well as their candied bacon bites and David Burke fabrick Club Burger.