LATINA'S NEW YORK CITY GUIDE: WHERE TO DRINK, EAT, SLEEP, AND PLAY

There's nothing quite like summer in the city, especially if you know where to go. Memorize our list of the best hotels, restaurants, spas, and boating excursions in the big apple for a trip you'll never forget.

Where to Stay and Dine in One Place: David Burke fabrick at the Archer Hotel

If you've ever been to one of David Burke's restaurants (Fishtail, David Burke Kitchen, David Burke Prime), then you know you're in store for a beuno meal. Fabrick is the legendary chef's newest culinary venture located in the boutique Archer hotel and it's already getting rave reviews—ours happens to be one of them. A cool dining room with an exposed kitchen and lively lobby bar elevate the fashion district venue to new heights and don't even think about leaving without sampling the Avocado Panna Cotta with blue corn tortillas or the Grilled Skirt Steak with chorizo, chimichurri, and a potato and cheese fritter.

Where to Take the Best Rooftop Selfies: SPYGLASS

22 floors above Manhattan clearly offers a great backdrop for your vacation Instagrams. The following libations also serve as great props for your pics as well: Empire State (a blend of Hendricks gin, St. Germaine ginger and Basil) Top of the World (Aperol, watermelon, St. Germain, Prosecco), and Mez-jito (a twist on the classic mojito with Union Uno Mezcal, lime, cucumber, mint and simple syrup).
